HALF DAY TOUR HERCULANEUM

Herculaneum was destroyed along with Pompeii in 79 A.D. and rediscovered in 1709. It was a residential town without Pompeii's commercial importance, surrounded by the villas of the wealthy Romans.

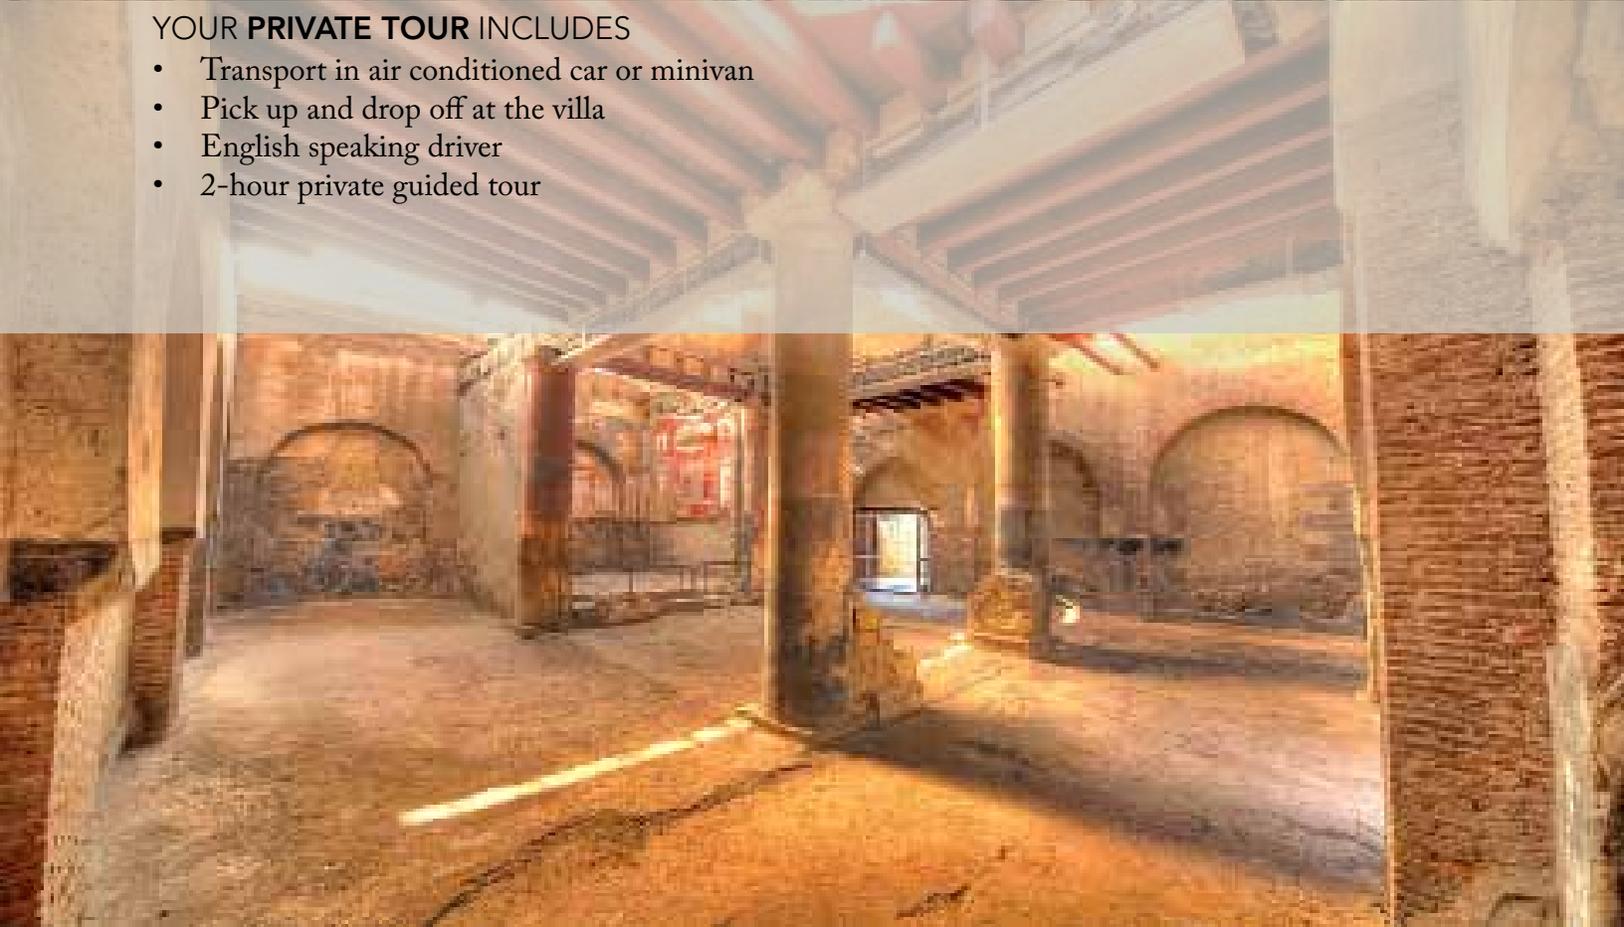

When the catastrophe of 79 A.D. occurred Herculaneum was submerged under a torrent of mud and lava that hardened into a soft tuff (a kind of porous rock) that preserved many of the timber features and household objects which can be seen today.

A large portion of the old Herculaneum is still buried under the modern town and even today excavations are going on to discover what treasures lie buried under the rock, to the extent that some families are being rehoused so work can continue.

HALF DAY TOUR MOUNT VESUVIUS

Vesuvius dominates the Bay of Naples. It is the only active volcano on the mainland of Europe. The slopes were once covered with vineyard and woods and provided an innocent looking backdrop for the bustling towns of Pompei and Herculaneum below. We will take you to within 1.000 m of the top of Vesuvius and from here you can walk to the very top and admire the splendid panoramic view across the Bay. From blackened crater rises a single plume of smoke, a reminder that the volcano is only sleeping for now?

HALF DAY / FULL DAY TOUR AMALFI COAST

The "Amalfi drive" is said to be the most spectacular in Europe and from Sorrento, the winding cliff top road offers breathtaking panoramic views at every turn. Balanced between sheer mountains and deep blue sea with every bend revealing a more magnificent view: olives and lemon groves, pines and cypresses cling to the mountains, enchanting, unspoiled villages perch on the steep slopes, the most famous being Positano, Amalfi and Ravello.

It is generally accepted that Ravello dates from pagan times towards the end of the first century of the Romans Empire. The settlement increased in size as various aristocratic Roman families established their home here. From here the Marine Republic of Amalfi grew and the prosperity of the merchants of Ravello increased as Amalfi conquered the trading routes of the Mediterranean and the east.

Not to be missed in Amalfi is the Cathedral dedicated to Saint Andrew dating back to the 9th century and the Villa Rufolo gardens in Ravello immortalised by Richard Wagner as the magic garden of Klingsor in his Parsifal.

FULL DAY TOUR POMPEII & HERCULANEUM

Drive along the Sorrento Coast to Pompeii. Visit of the excavation of this ancient commercial city, unique in the world. Nowhere else are we able to see so vividly how the ancient civilizations lived. You can see aspects of life 2000 years ago, preserved by the volcanic ash that was thrown from Vesuvius in the great eruption of 79 A.D. Pompeii was only rediscovered in the 18th century. In the last few years every possible effort has been concentrated on restoration and excavation, continually bringing light to new and sensational discoveries.

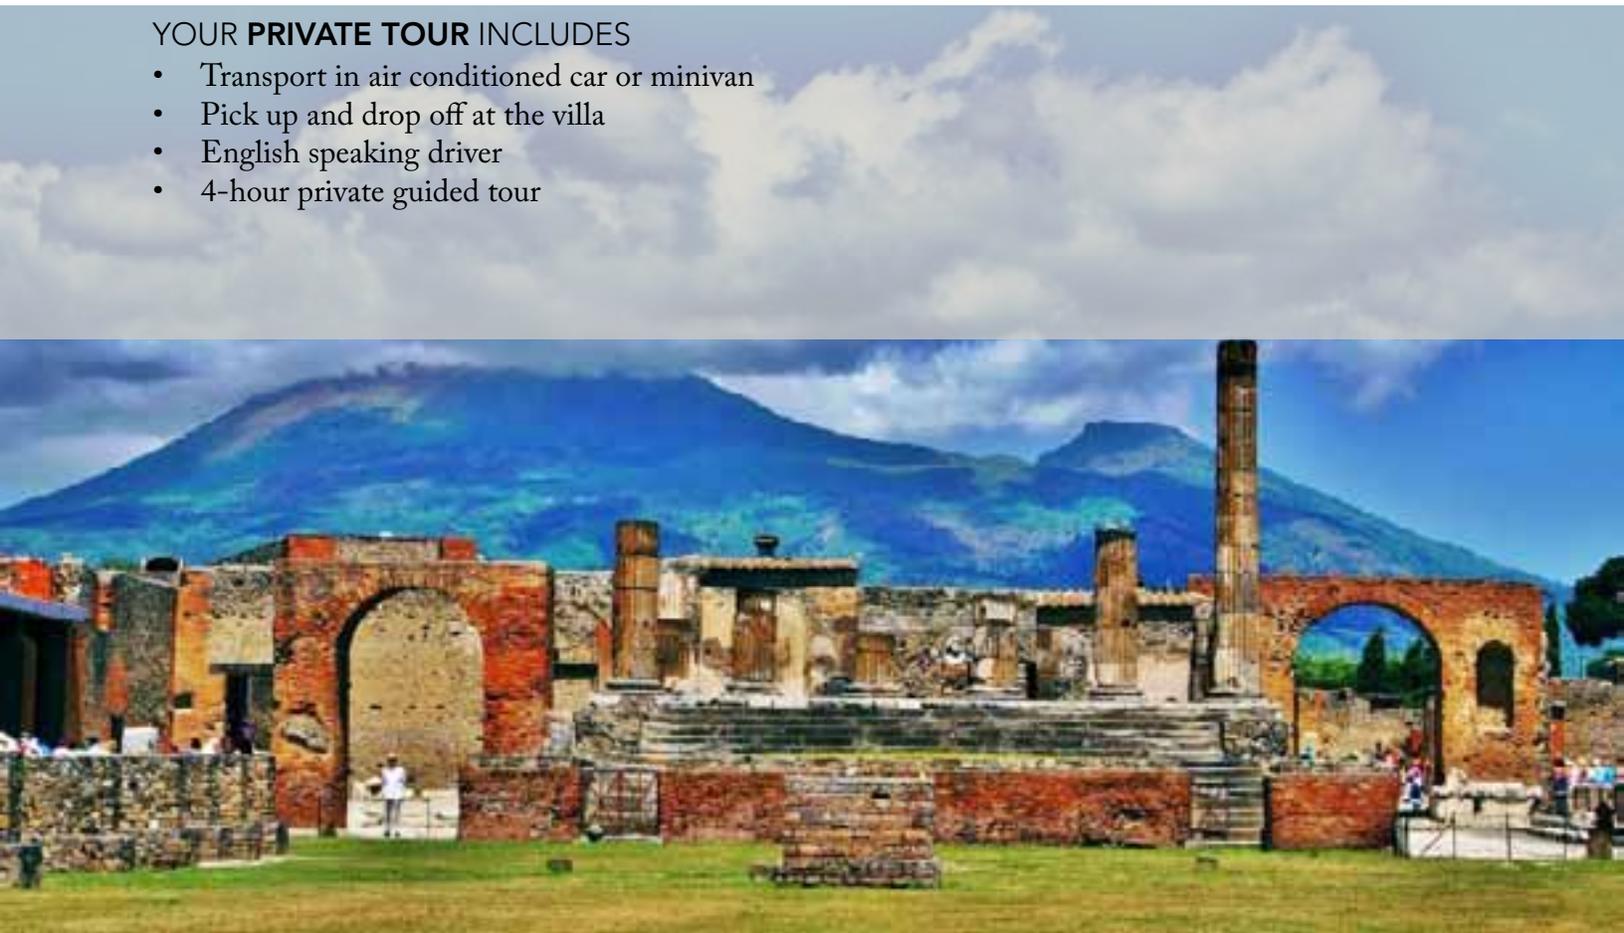

Then we move to Herculaneum. Unlike the commercial city of Pompeii, Herculaneum was considered a seaside resort and port where wealthy Romans came to holiday.

This resort was destroyed by the eruption of Vesuvius in 79 A.D. however not by the ashes and lava as Pompeii, but by a torrent of mud flooding down from the slopes of the volcano. Having solidified, it became "tuffa" which constituted for centuries the best possible defence from atmospheric agents. For this reason houses, wooden elements, foodstuffs and fabrics are preserved intact thus offering a unique vision of private life in Roman times.

You can see aspects of life dating 2,000 years back, preserved by the volcanic ash that was thrown from Vesuvius in the great eruption of 79 A.D. Pompeii was only rediscovered in the 18th century. In the last few years every possible effort has been concentrated on restoration and excavation, continuously leading to new and sensational discoveries. Following the visit to the archaeological site, we take a spectacular drive through green orchards and lava flows up to 3,000 feet on Mount Vesuvius.

A path continues to the edge of the crater where a guide takes you around, pointing out the “fumaroles” which reveal that the volcano is still active. It is the only active Volcano on the main land of Europe. This impressive Volcano dominated the Bay of Naples until the eruption of 79 AD which destroyed the towns of Pompeii, Herculaneum and Stabia: Vesuvius appears almost extinct ever since. Do not expect a bubbling pot full of lava like it was back in 1944, now there is only a thin stream of rising vapour. From the very top you can admire the splendid panoramic views across the bay.
